

6516207720.txt

I believe that the satellite radio service should be allowed to do local programming. The satellite television service already has that privilege. There is no compelling reason why radio should be treated differently. Competition will be good for the radio broadcast service. They are becoming too much of a monopoly now and the service they are providing is not diverse enough. I quit listening to them as soon as the satellite radio service started.